A 10-minute programme addressed to the Romani ethnic minority. Romano Dżipen – Z życia Romów [Stories from the Romani community]. In this programme, we present the multicultural coexistence in the Pomorze region, including the Romani minority. Present in Poland for several hundred years, the Romani people are still one of Poland's least known minorities. We know little about their culture, values or honour. The Romani people form a very hermetic group. They are very reluctant to share information about them and often severely punish "informers" within their community. Romano Dżipen is designed to shed some light for the general public on the hermetically closed Romani community. Only Romani folk bands performing on stage have been more widely known so far. In Polish Radio Koszalin, we are presenting different sides of the Romani life. Among Poles, a Romani is stereotyped as a thief, a filthy person, an idler, a dunce, a palmist or... a blacksmith. Doing away with this stereotype, showing the Romani community as it really is – these are one of the key objectives of the programme. Furthermore, the programme presents elements of the Romani culture, those widely known as well as those passed on from generation to generation

	Romani	Romani	Magazyn romski	0:10:00	1/week	8:39:25	A fixed schedule item aired every Sunday at 7.10 pm. A 10-minute programme addressed to the Romani ethnic minority. Romano Dżipen – Z życia Romów [Stories from the Romani community]. In this programme, we present the multicultural coexistence in the Pomorze region, including the Romani minority. Present in Poland for several hundred years, the Romani people are still one of Poland's least known minorities. We know little about their culture, values or honour. The Romani people form a very hermetic group. They are very reluctant to share information about them and often severely punish "informers" within their community. Romano Dżipen is designed to shed some light for the general public on the hermetically closed Romani community. Only Romani folk bands performing on stage have been more widely known so far. In Polish Radio Koszalin, we are presenting different sides of the Romani life. Among Poles, a Romani is stereotyped as a thief, a filthy person, a idler, a dunce, a palmist or... a blacksmith. Doing away with this stereotype, showing the Romani community as it really is – these are one of the key objectives of the programme. Furthermore, the programme presents elements of the Romani culture, those widely known as well as those passed on from generation to generation
